PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

"Whatever is worth doing at all, is worth doing well." -Philip Stanhope

As a junior web developer with a special interest in data analytics, I'm all about staying dedicated and giving 150% to any job and task I am assigned, no matter how menial or complex. I love diving into new challenges, using my mix of knowledge and skills from various areas and fields to really make a difference in business performance. Whether I'm working solo or teaming up, you'll find me bringing a solid work ethic and a quick adaptability to whatever comes my way, all with the goal of pushing company objectives forward and proving myself.
